SUBJECT: Request from Honduran Government Human Rights Ombudsman for United States Government Documents Relevant to Human Rights Investigations

The Department of State hereby requests the cooperation and assistance of the addressee agencies in responding to a July 31, 1995, request from Dr. Leo Valladares, head of the Honduran National Commission for Human Rights, for U.S. government documents pertaining to disappearances and other human rights abuses which occurred in Honduras in the early 1980's.

The Department of State wishes to be as forthcoming as possible in response to this government-to-government request. The Commission headed by Dr. Valladares is a governmental institution, created by presidential decree in 1992. Honduran legislation subsequently established the Human Rights Commission on a permanent basis. Dr. Valladares is a presidential appointee.

We ask addressee agencies to locate responsive documents; for the purpose of this request, "responsive documents" include only those originated by the retrieving agency -- other agency material need not be produced. Each agency should review documents keeping in mind the need to protect classified information, privacy interests, and other governmental privileges. The Department proposes to provide releasable documents to Dr. Valladares as they become available through our embassy in Tegucigalpa. Agencies should also be advised that released documents may find their way into the public domain.
Also transmitted with this memorandum are two separate requests from the Office of the Attorney General of Honduras. These are:

-- a June 13, 1995, letter from Honduran Attorney General Edmundo Orellana seeking all information in the files of U.S. government agencies concerning the disappearance of U.S. citizen Father James Francis Carney in September 1983 and

-- a June 15, 1995, request from Sonia Marlyna de Flores, Special Prosecutor for Human Rights (within the office of the Attorney General), seeking information about CIA operations and contacts with Honduran officials, disappeared persons, arms trafficking, Battalion 316, and other matters.

In its August 1995 interim response to the requests from the Attorney General's office, the Department noted with respect to the June 15 request that as a matter of long-standing policy, the United States Government does not comment on U.S. intelligence activities overseas. At the same time we expressed our willingness to provide documents that may be responsive as they become available as a result of existing FOIA requests. Similarly, we ask that agencies bear these requests in mind as they search for documents responsive to the Valladares request, and to indicate to us which documents to be released to Valladares would also be responsive to the requests from the Attorney General's office. We are not asking other agencies to develop replies to questions posed in the Special Prosecutor's June 15 request. We anticipate that an NSC-chaired inter-agency working group on Central American document issues will meet in the near future to coordinate the U.S. response. We request a reply to this memorandum by November 15 estimating the number and type of responsive documents that might be releasable and when they could be provided to the State Department.

The point of contact in the Department of State for this matter is ARA/CEN Office Director John R. Hamilton. Backups are Deputy Director Gary Maybarduk and Desk Officer Lynn Allison. They may be reached by telephone (202) 647-4010; fax (202) 647-2597; secure phone (202) 647-1831 or 647-0083, secure fax 647-0905 (in the ARA front office).

Your cooperation in this matter is greatly appreciated.

In an October 12, 1995 memorandum, the Department of State requested the cooperation and assistance of the addressee agencies in responding to a July 31, 1995 request from Dr. Leo Valladares, head of the Honduran National Commission for Human Rights, for U.S. Government documents pertaining to disappearances and other human rights abuses which occurred in Honduras in the early 1980's (see attachment).

In that same memorandum we also transmitted two separate requests from the Office of the Attorney General of Honduras. In these requests, the Honduran Government asked for all information in the files of USG agencies concerning the disappearance of U.S. citizen Father James Francis Carney and information about CIA operations and contacts with Honduran officials, disappeared persons, arms trafficking, Battalion 316 and other matters (see attachment).

On September 30, 1996 Dr. Valladares visited the Department of State and inquired about documents that were to have been forthcoming from other USG agencies. We wish to be able to provide Dr. Valladares and the Honduran government with a progress report. We understand that addressee agencies have been working on this request.
I would appreciate your cooperation in providing by November 1, 1996 a status report on the work done so far by your organization pursuant to the Honduran government's requests for documents. Please include the dates on which you expect to be able to provide the Department with declassified documents that can be turned over to the Hondurans. This information will assist us in providing the Honduran Government with up-to-date information on the status of this project.

The National Human Rights Commissioner

No. 522-DC/95 Tegucigalpa, M.D.C., July 31, 1993

Excellency:

I have the honor to request Your Excellency's cooperation in obtaining from your government information that will help to shed light on human rights violations that occurred in our country during the past decade.

The information that we are requesting is of utmost importance for the investigations we are conducting and for advancing the legal proceedings that the Office of the Special Human Rights Prosecutor has initiated.

Our work is part of the process to eliminate impunity, and is vital to the strengthening of peace and democracy in Honduras.

His Excellency
William T. Pryce,
Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary of the United States of America, Tegucigalpa.
With this request, we believe that we are responding to request of the Clinton Administration at the time of our initial request in December 1993 that we be more specific in indicating the documents we are seeking. We have, accordingly, grouped the documents we are requesting into three key categories:

1. Documentation on six cases of "disappearances;"
2. Documentation on General Alvarez Martinez;
3. Documentation on Battalion 3-16.

More specifically, we have taken the liberty of indicating those U.S. Government agencies in whose archives the documents requested can be located. Wherever possible, we have also indicated time periods and dates on which the information we seek was generated.

With regard to State Department and CIA documents, we wish to point out that we are not seeking cable reports, or speeches by Hondurans, or copies of FBI articles. What we are really looking for is new information that will allow us to discover the truth about past human rights violations in our country and thus identify those responsible.

We are not interested, either, in learning about methods or sources of intelligence; what we are trying to find are CIA reports and detailed information on military and paramilitary organizations and on individuals responsible for human rights abuses.

Enclosed you will find our request for information in detail, together with a copy of two newspaper articles referring thereto.

Finally, Mr. Ambassador, allow me to seize this opportunity to express, through you, my sincere thanks for the support we have received in our task from the Clinton Administration and from many members of the United States Senate and House of Representatives.

I avail myself of this opportunity to renew to you the assurances of my highest consideration and esteem.

Tegucigalpa

Mr. Attorney General:

I have the honor to send you a copy of the request that I have made, through Ambassador William T. Pryce, to the United States Government for documentary information on the human rights violations committed in our country during the past decade.

As I explain in that letter, this is the second request for information, following the request of December 21, 1993, which coincided with our Preliminary Report on the Disappeared in Honduras: "The Facts Speak for Themselves." In its response, the United States Government asked us to be more specific in indicating what information we needed, whence this new request today.
As you know, we have, in formulating this request for information from the United States Government, worked together with the Office of the Special Human Rights Prosecutor at all times.

We are certain that the information we receive will advance the legal proceedings initiated by the above-mentioned Office, aimed at shedding light on the human rights violations occurring in our country during the past decade, and is also an important contribution to the effort to eliminate impunity.

Our work, Mr. Attorney General, is part of the mission vested in us by Article 59 of the Honduran Constitution, "to guarantee the rights and freedoms" of all Hondurans.

I avail myself of this opportunity to renew to you the assurances of my highest consideration and esteem.

Request for Documents by the National Human Rights Commissioner to the Government of the United States

Key Categories:

I. Documentation on six cases of "disappearances;"

II. Documentation on General Alvarez Martinez

III. Documentation on Battalion 3-16

I. Cases of Disappearances

We request detailed information, reports, studies, notes, papers, cables, memoranda, briefing documents, talking points, minutes of meetings, biographical material, and any document whatsoever that might refer to the six disappearances that occurred in Honduras in the early 1980's.

We specifically request information on the following:

1. All records concerning the disappearance of Tomas Nativi Galvez.

Nativi, a teacher and union leader, was taken from his wife's house and "disappeared" by six masked men shortly after midnight on June 11, 1981. His colleague and fellow union leader Fidel Martinez was also captured. Nativi's wife, Bertha Oliva, identifi...
Capt. Alexander Hernández as one of the men who participated in the abduction. The others were DNI agents. The Nicaraguan Ricardo "Chino" Lau may also have been involved.

2. All records concerning the disappearance of José Eduardo Becerra Lanza.

Becerra Lanza was "disappeared" from downtown Tegucigalpa on August 1, 1982 by DNI agents. Years later, a member of the Nicaraguan Contras who had worked in Tegucigalpa admitted in a press interview that he had participated in the killing of the young student. He indicated that Capt. Alexander Hernández turned Becerra Lanza over to him with instructions that he was to be executed and "disappeared." He also told him that the orders came from Álvarez Martínez. Becerra Lanza was murdered and his body was buried somewhere between Tegucigalpa and Choluteca.

3. All records concerning the disappearance of Germán Pérez Alemán.

Pérez Alemán was "disappeared" on August 18, 1982. Six heavily armed men captured the union leader in broad daylight on a busy street in Tegucigalpa. A Traffic Safety patrol car followed the vehicle that Pérez Alemán had been forced into and caught up with the abductors. Second lieutenant Flores Murillo got out of the vehicle and identified himself as a member of G-2, thereby terminating the pursuit by the patrol car. According to a former member of Battalion 3-16 the abductors took Pérez Alemán to Támara, where the unit regularly kept prisoners in clandestine detention. On May 29, 1983, the Permanent Mission of Honduras at Geneva informed the UN Working Group, based on information submitted by the Honduran Armed Forces, that DNI was investigating the case. The Honduran Government once again informed the UN Working Group on August 31, 1983, that an investigation was being conducted. The investigations produced no results.

4. All records concerning the disappearance of Inés Consuelo Murillo Schwaderer.

On March 13, 1983, attorney and political activist Inés Murillo Schwaderer was "disappeared" from the city of Choloma by members of Battalion 3-16. Her abductors took her to a clandestine detention center in San Pedro Sula, where she was brutally tortured. After more than a month, she was transferred to a military facility near Tegucigalpa. The beatings and abuses continued. During her detention, Murillo recognized second lieutenant Marco Tulio Regalado Hernández as one of her torturers. She also heard the voice of a U.S. visitor called "Mr. Mike" by the Hondurans. (According to testimony given to Congress in 1988 by CIA Deputy Director for Operations Richard Stolz, a CIA official did visit Murillo in her cell during the course of her detention by Battalion 3-16.) On May 31, Murillo's status was officially recognized and she was transferred to DNI headquarter in Tegucigalpa. The DNI, through Major Juan Blas Salazar Meza, took responsibility for her detention, despite the fact that it was Military Intelligence that had abducted, interrogated, and tortured her. After Murillo's detention was made public, she was transferred to a federal prison, "CEFAS," where she remained for 13 months until her release on July 5, 1984.
5. All records concerning the disappearance of Father James Francisco Carney, known as "Father Guadalupe. A U.S. priest working in Central America, Father Carney (or Father Guadalupe) crossed the Nicaragua border into Honduras in July 1983 with a small guerrilla column led by José María Reyes Mata. According to testimony provided by Florencio Caballero, a former member of Battalion 3-16, Honduran soldiers captured the guerrilla group in a military operation dubbed "Patuca." Carney was then taken to the Contra supply base at El Aquacate, questioned, and hurled to his death from a helicopter. Caballero stated that the orders for Carney's disappearance came from Armed Forces Chief Alvarez Martinez during a planning meeting for "Operation Patuca." According to Caballero, U.S. personnel were present at the planning session, including one person whom he knew only as "Mr. Mike," when Alvarez ordered his men to kill Carney and Reyes Mata after their interrogation.
6. All records concerning the disappearance of Gustavo Adolfo Morales Fúnez.

An economist and former union leader, Gustavo Morales was "disappeared" on March 18, 1984, forced into a blue van by several armed men. Supreme Court judges Luis Mendoza Fugón and a FUSEP (Public Security Force) officer on guard at the Foreign Ministry witnessed abduction, which occurred in downtown Tegucigalpa. Numerous habeas corpus petitions were submitted in days following Morales's detention, but to no avail. Although Mendoza reported to the press what he had seen, no authority requested the Supreme Court to issue an official statement. This case was brought before the UN Working Group on Forced or Involuntary Disappearances.

II. General Gustavo Alvarez Martínez

We request detailed information, reports, studies, notes papers, cables, memoranda, briefing documents, talking point minutes of meetings, biographical material, and any document whatsoever that might refer to Honduran Army General Gustavo
Alvarez Martinez from 1980, when he headed FUSEP, the Public Security Force, until March 1984, when he was expelled as Chief of the Honduran Armed Forces.

Finally, we would like any records that mention the general's connections with 3-16, up until 1982.

when he headed FUSEP, and records concerning Alvarez's establishment, with Argentine assistance, of an anti-subversive unit within FUSEP called the Special Operations Command (COE). 4. All records concerning the barracks revolt against General Alvarez Martínez in March 1984 led by current Vice President of Honduras General Walter López Reyes.

III. Battalion 3-16

We request detailed information, reports, studies, notes, papers, cables, memoranda, briefing documents, talking points, minutes of meetings, biographical material, and any document whosoever that might have been generated by U.S. Government agencies between 1979 and 1984, inclusive, regarding Battalion 3-16, a military intelligence unit set up to monitor and destroy "subversive" organizations and individuals in Honduras. We also seek any documents whosoever that might refer to the institutional forerunners of 3-16, i.e., the "Group of 14," a special intelligence unit comprised of members of the Honduran military, established in 1979 and dissolved in 1982, and the "Group of 10," a unit that existed for a few months in 1982, prior to the establishment of 3-16 later that year.

We specifically request the following:

1. All records concerning the origins, structure, planning operations, training, and members of the Group of 10, the Group of 14, and Battalion 3-16 from 1979 to 1984, inclusive. We would also like all records that make reference to Battalion 3-16 and the other groups mentioned with respect to the use of abductions, disappearances, and torture directed against "subversive" organizations and individuals, and with reference to human rights violations, extra-legal operations, death squad activities, and the maintenance of clandestine prisons.

Excellency Mr. Ambassador:

I have the honor to write to you in reference to the investigations which the Special Prosecutor for Human Rights is conducting, in relation to cases of forced disappearances in our country during the decade of the 1980's.

Among the cases given priority is that of James Francis Carney, priest, citizen of the United States, better known as "Father Guadalupe," who disappeared after being captured along with Dr. Reyes Mata around the beginning of December (sic) 1983, after entering from Nicaragua. Dear Senator Cranston:

This is in response to your letter of August 23, 1985 concerning the involvement of United States servicemen on temporary duty in Honduras for a combined United States-Honduran military exercise in transporting Father Donald, a United States citizen who was under arrest by Honduran authorities.

Our investigation into this matter determined errors in judgment on the part of United States servicemen on duty in first complying with the Honduran request without seeking guidance from their superiors and second, in not reporting the incident up the chain of command. It also notes the Honduran military officer's role in making the request for improper use of United States military transportation. Recommendations were that United States military units be enjoined from assisting the Honduran Army in transporting any prisoners whether civilian or military; and that the two United States servicemen involved be counseled in keeping the chain of command involved. The United States military commander has assured the American Embassy that the servicemen's decision to assist the Honduran military was motivated solely by interest in accommodating, whenever possible, requests by host country counterparts. It was also clear that there was some doubt in the United States servicemen's minds as to Father Donald's true nationality. The United States military commander agrees that errors in judgment were made, but also cites these other factors contributing to the incident.

We are in the process of taking steps to close the matter and hopefully avoid its repetition. First, we will raise the episode with the Honduran Armed Forces Chief of Staff to express our strong concern over the lack of consular access, the mistreatment of a United States citizen and the fact that United States military assistance was sought in dealing with Father Donald while he was under detention. Secondly, the entire incident will be reviewed with the Commander, Joint Task Force Bravo, the senior United States commander in Honduras, to ensure the above recommendations are implemented immediately.

Sincerely,

F. A. Gorden

Senator Tom Harkin
United States Senate
Washington, D.C. 20510

Dear Senator:

(U) The following is provided in response to your letter of May 22 to Secretary Weinberger concerning General Gustavo Alvarez, former Commander of the Honduran Armed Forces:

1. (U) The Department of Defense never awarded a contract directly to General Alvarez, nor has the General been employed as a paid consultant to the Department. General Alvarez secured employment as a consultant with Sumner Associates, a New Mexico based firm. Sumner Associates was awarded a contract by the Department of Defense to conduct a classified study of Central American insurgency. The State Department was aware of the contract award. Within the Pentagon, the proposed contract award was reviewed and concurred in by the normal complement of staff offices responsible for such matters, including the Office of the General Counsel, the Directorate of Budget and Finance, the OSD Study Coordinator, the Assistant Secretary of Defense for International Security Affairs, the Defense Supply Service—Washington, and myself. General Alvarez was also utilized as a subcontractor by Rand Corporation to participate in a study of the impact of U.S. security assistance in Central America. The study involved several people representing a broad range of Honduran opinion.

2. (U) Other regional analysts were offered the opportunity to bid on "low intensity conflict" research. The Department of Defense determined that there were aspects of the study which did not require security clearances and for which Sumner Associates were not uniquely qualified. The study was therefore divided into two parts, the portion which included classified research was awarded to Sumner Associates on a sole source basis due to the unique expertise possessed by that organization and the security clearances required for part of the study; however, it was subjected to challenge by other interested contractors in accordance with the Competition in Contracting Act (CICA). The other portion of the study, involving unclassified research, was opened to full competition under the provisions of the CICA. Award of this contract was made to Eaton Corporation. To the best of our knowledge, General Alvarez has no affiliation with Eaton.

3. (U) General Alvarez is not now nor has he ever been on the "Pentagon payroll".

4. (S) Regarding the allegations of murders being carried out by Honduran military personnel, the U.S. Embassy in Honduras has investigated the charges and found them to be unsubstantiated allegations based chiefly on the testimony of one person, Florencio Caballero. In addition, several USG agencies have reviewed their records and similarly found no evidence to corroborate the charges made by Mr. Caballero.

5. (U) The Department of Defense was aware that General Alvarez, as Commander of the Honduran Armed Forces, exercised command of the 316th Military Intelligence (MI) Battalion as he did over all Honduran military units.

6. (S/NF) The Department of Defense has no ongoing relationship, either formal or informal, with the 316th MI Battalion. The U.S. Military Group has had no known security assistance activities with the 316th MI Battalion with the following exception: The U.S. Military Group oversees the personnel exchange program (PEP) in Honduras. Since January 1986, one U.S. Army PEP officer has been assigned to the Honduran Military Intelligence School as an instructor. It is conceivable that in the conduct of his instructional duties, the PEP officer may have instructed a past, present, or future member of the 316th. If so, his contact would have been brief. In December 1985 and again in February 1987, two members of U.S. Southern Command's 470th MI Group provided instruction to a small group of 316th personnel (approximately 17) on screening techniques. The two-day course was oriented on preliminary interviews of refugees to determine debriefing potential. With the exception of this course, no other training of the 316th is known to have taken place. The only other known Department of Defense relationship with the 316th is that of the Combined Document Exploitation Center (CDEC). CDEC, a combined U.S., El Salvador and Honduras organization was formed in early 1984 and disbanded in early 1986. Two members of the 316th, a translator and a noncommissioned officer, were attached to the organization, as were several members of the 470th MI Group. As a result, daily contact occurred between 470th and 316th personnel who, however, were detached from their parent unit.

7. (U) Major Hernandez was formerly Commander of the 316th MI Battalion, and is currently in charge of the Advanced Officers School of the Honduran Army.

(U) I hope that this information will be of assistance to you.

Sincerely,

Lt Col Conaway/IA/79301

Reed C. Ikle
Honorable George Miller
House of Representatives
Washington, D. C. 20515

Dear Congressman:

I am writing to you in response to your 9 October letter to the Secretary of Defense. You requested information on General Gustavo Alvarez, former Commander of the Honduran Armed Forces, and on whether or not any individuals who are, or have been, the subject of investigation by the Inter-American Court of Human Rights have received, or are receiving, U.S. support of any kind.

With respect to General Alvarez, the Department of Defense never awarded a contract directly to General Alvarez, nor has the General been employed as a paid consultant to the Department. General Alvarez secured employment as a consultant with Sumner Associates, a New Mexico based firm. Sumner Associates was awarded a contract by the Department of Defense to conduct a classified study of the Central American insurgency. The Department of State was aware of the contract award. Within the Pentagon, the proposed contract award was reviewed and concurred in by the normal complement of staff offices responsible for such matters, including the Office of the General Counsel, the Directorate of Budget and Finance, the Director of Contractual Assistance and Advisory Services, the Under Secretary of Defense for Policy, the Assistant Secretary of Defense (International Security Affairs), and the Defense Supply Service—Washington. General Alvarez was also utilized as a subcontractor by Rand Corporation to participate in a study of the impact of U.S. security assistance in Central America. The study involved several people representing a broad range of Honduran opinion.

Regarding your second point, the Department of Defense has no information on any persons who are, or who have been, the subject of an investigation by the Inter-American Court of Human Rights having received, or presently now receiving, U.S. support of any kind. By way of background, the Inter-American Court of Human Rights, which is based in San Jose, Costa Rica, has jurisdiction only over the nine governments which have agreed to accept its jurisdiction. The court has no jurisdiction over individuals. The only active case it has now is against the Government of Honduras. Information available to us indicates that General Alvarez' name has been mentioned in this ongoing investigation because of his previous leadership positions within the Honduran Armed Forces. No final judgement has been issued on this case.

I trust the above information adequately answers your questions.

Sincerely,

RICHARD L ARMITAGE

Honduran Intelligence Organization (U)
The 316th Military Intelligence Battalion (MIB)

The 316th MIB was formed in January 1983 as part of the restructuring of the intelligence system (see figure). The MIB was originally to be patterned after a US terrain exploitation battalion, with emphasis on technical specialties. Because of the limited resources and technical expertise available to the Hondurans, the MIB's role has been modified to reflect a more clandestine role. The MIB is not fully staffed and its growth has been measured due to the necessity to be selective in choosing its personnel and the length of time required to train new members. The MIB, in support of national intelligence requirements, has established covert operational sites in major cities and is working closely with DNI and its network of agents and informants. In addition, the MIB works closely with the Signal Battalion and the PSYOPS GP, while providing direct support to the Special Forces Battalion and FUSEP's elite counterterrorist unit, the Special Squadron or Cobras.

The MIB is organized into four companies: Support, Military Intelligence, Counterintelligence and Internal Security, and a Special Operations Squadron (Support). The Support and Military Intelligence Companies are not yet operational and it is unlikely that they will be in the near future. Because the MIB has a high priority, support is obtained directly from the J-2, J-4, or the Logistics Center (CALFFAA Centro de Apoyo Logistico de Las Fuerzas Armadas), making the need for a well developed support company minimal. The Military Intelligence (MI) Company is limited by a shortage of qualified personnel, so the office of the J-2 does provide direct and continuing support. Technical skills in such fields as terrain analysis, photo interpretation, and SIGINT appear to be slowly improving as personnel receive training and gain experience. Overall, however, development of the MI Company is probably not a high priority.

The Counterintelligence (CI) Company is the most developed part of the MIB and apparently enjoys the highest priority. The CI Company is not large, probably less than 50 members. The majority of the personnel working in or with the CI Company are DNI agents.

The primary mission of the CI Company is to develop intelligence, through covert means, concerning subversive and antigovernment groups, factions, or individuals who might pose a threat.

Penetration of leftist groups through the use of agents or informants is the principal means by which the CI Company is attempting to accomplish its mission. It has not been as successful as hoped because of inexperience and the incompetence of DNI agents. Inexperience is a function of the limited number of trained military personnel. However, it appears that a significant impediment is the use of DNI agents. For the most part, these agents are poorly trained, corrupt, and prone to using excessive violence; they frequently fail to coordinate activities, and they have a marked tendency not to share or report information through MIB channels. Because the DNI personnel are still part of FUSEP, they appear to prefer to remain loyal to the FUSEP Commander, who controls their careers, rather than the national intelligence system.

The Internal Security (IS) Company is in many ways a duplication of the CI Company because it also is primarily a covert organization. However, the IS Company does appear to concentrate on developing domestic political information and is more involved with PSYOPS, particularly in rural areas. The IS Company also does some background investigations and cooperates with DNI in investigations such as drug smuggling, official corruption, and surveillance of foreign nationals. In addition, the IS and CI Companies are
The Chief of the Armed Forces has direct responsibilities to support the particular MIB function. This includes overseeing the 316th MIB Commander. The Chief of the Joint Staff, through J-2, can task the MI8 directly, bypassing the J-2.

(U) 316th Military Intelligence Battalion Organization closely cooperating with experts from DNI and the Signal Company to develop their electronic surveillance capabilities. At present, they have the capability to conduct multiple wiretap operations of domestic and international communications in all major cities, they place and use listening devices, and they use cameras or videotape for surveillance.

Because the MIB has access to a great deal of information it has the further responsibility to support the Special Forces Battalion and the Cobras. The Special Operations Squadron acts as the coordinator for all required support such as communications, intelligence, and planning, and can provide personnel, if necessary. In addition, the MIB now appears to be the primary agency to conduct interrogations of captured or detained subversives.

Although the MIB has been in operation for only little over a year and despite significant deficiencies, it has demonstrated the potential to be a major asset to the national intelligence effort. Nevertheless, many in the military and civilian government are suspicious of the MIB due to its growing covert capabilities, ability to develop domestic political information, and less than satisfactory sharing of information directly with the J-2. Therefore, until the J-2 can exert full operational control over the MIB, its effectiveness will lag far behind its potential.

Directorate of National Investigations (DNI)

The DNI is a major force in Honduran intelligence due mainly to its covert, investigative expertise, and the fact that the past J-2 was formerly its head. DNI was organized to be the criminal investigation branch of FUSEP, but expanded its operations to cover subversion, counterintelligence, and intelligence gathering in the absence of any dedicated military agency.

Because DNI is primarily a criminal investigation agency, it has never had the analytical or managerial capability to satisfy national intelligence requirements. However, with more than 250 FUSEP stations throughout the country, DNI has access to a great deal of information through its network of agents and informants, and thus the decision to use its assets rather than create a parallel military clandestine organization (see figures 5 and 6).

The remainder of DNI would remain a visible part of FUSEP as the criminal investigation branch. In practice this arrangement has left much to be desired primarily because many DNI agents are poorly trained and corrupt. Moreover, the DNI personnel are torn between two masters, the FUSEP Commander who controls their careers and the J-2. As a consequence, the information flow is erratic. FUSEP, despite its paramilitary status and officers who move between jobs in the Army and FUSEP, is basically a police force; admittedly, with access to a great deal of information, but without the skills or mentality to serve national intelligence needs on a permanent basis.

The counterinsurgency capabilities of the Honduran Armed Forces are extremely limited.

Retrospect

The military has not had extensive COIN experience; however, between July and October 1983, it conducted successful COIN operations in Olancho Department. The operations were necessitated by the infiltration, from Nicaragua, of 96 members of the Central American Revolutionary Workers Party (PRTC) who intended to foment revolution. The military was alerted to the infiltration and it quickly formed a task force, headed by Special Forces, and moved to eliminate the threat. The Special Forces were used exhaustively to pursue the guerrillas, with regular troops used mainly as blocking forces.

Insurgency Threat

Since the mid-1960s, with the exception of the PRTC's 1983 Olancho debacle, there have been no serious efforts to foment revolution in Honduras. Nevertheless, during the last 5 years, security forces have reacted to possible guerrilla threats on a number of occasions: when 4 suspected guerrillas were apprehended near Yoro in September 1981; when approximately 20 Cuban trained would-be guerrillas who infiltrated into Honduras from Nicaragua were captured in September 1984; and, most recently, in October 1986, when the Army began counterinsurgency operations south of La Ceiba, against suspected guerrillas.

Counterinsurgency Forces

Although every unit in the Honduran military and FUSEP is supposed to be able to assume a COIN role, in practice the available forces are limited. The Air Force and the Navy have no dedicated COIN forces. The Army has only three units with stated COIN missions: the Special Forces Companies, the 15th Infantry Battalion, and the 316th Military Intelligence (MI) Battalion. There are also three units with unofficial COIN companies: 2d Airborne Battalion, and the 3d and 5th Infantry Battalions.

While it has a modestly well-trained "elite" 400-man urban counterterrorist unit, called the Cobras, FUSEP is not a credible backup to the Army in any counterinsurgency situation.

The 316th MI Battalion can support COIN operations with modest intelligence capabilities. It also provides some psyops and civic-actions support. However, the MI battalion is small (estimated 100 to 150 personnel), with too few well-trained members, a limited capability to analyze and disseminate information in a timely manner, and an inability to sustain field operations for extended periods of time.
INFORMATION PAPER

Subject: Honduran Armed Forces--Human Rights and Corruption (U)
- A US family has received US Embassy and Honduran government support in locating the remains of deceased US citizen Father James Francis Carney who disappeared in 1983. USDAO investigations and embassy reporting of the period indicated that Carney probably died of exposure after being left behind by a guerrilla band. However, the family had reports from witnesses claiming Carney was captured, tortured, and killed by the military—some witnesses claiming US involvement. The body has never been found. The Honduran government has recently obtained information on a possible gravesite for Carney, and the investigation continues. So far, there is no hard evidence that the military was involved in Carney's demise.
(U) Enclosure 6: Background information on US citizens and human rights in Honduras.

1. A US family has received US Embassy and Honduran government support in locating the remains of deceased US citizen Father James Francis Carney who disappeared in 1983. USDAO investigations and embassy reporting of the period indicated that Carney probably died of starvation and/or exposure after being left behind by a guerrilla band transiting to its operational area. The military intercepted the guerrillas and caught or killed most. However, at least two guerrillas said they had left the sick and weakened Carney behind and believed he died from starvation. The body has never been found.

2. The family had reports from witnesses claiming they saw Carney being detained and tortured by the military, and later taken away and "disappeared." Some of the "witnesses" may differ from those of US and Canadian media accounts in 1987. The media accounts were based on interviews given by Florencio Caballero, a self-proclaimed army death squad member. Caballero claimed Carney was captured, tortured, and ultimately thrown from a helicopter.

3. The Honduran government, responding to Embassy requests to assist the family, has recently obtained information on a possible gravesite for Carney. This investigation continues. So far, there is no hard evidence that the military was involved in Carney's demise.

The 316th MI Bn advised the Estado Mayor that, given the magnitude of an operation to apprehend the FPI-L2 members identified so far and the need to conduct it openly and simultaneously, a NMO military unit should be tasked. They warned that such an operation would have considerable publicity impact and would bring corresponding protests from leftist organizations in country.

SUMMARY: COL Gustavo Alvarez, CINC of Honduran Armed Forces, said in a recent speech that the military will come down hard on terrorism and that the philosophy of human rights was not created to protect terrorists and subversives who aim to promote public disorder. Alvarez also spoke highly of work done by Col. Bueso (new Chief of General Staff) of promoting industry in the San Pedro Sula (1528N 0802W) area and maintaining public order.

DETAILS: (1) TERRORISM.

On 10 Feb, Col. Gustavo (Alvarez) Martinez, CINC of Honduran Armed Forces, came down hard on terrorists and subversives. He stated that the philosophy of human rights was not created to protect terrorists and subversives, who aim to promote public disorder, nor was it created to protect those who receive training in sabotage and guerrilla operations. Speaking before a large audience which included many key business and labor leaders in San Pedro Sula, Alvarez said that he chose to deliver this message in San Pedro Sula because the city is the industrial heart of the country and the place where leftist activism has been most in evidence. He further stated that the armed forces will not allow terrorism to take root in the most important industrial sector of the country and one in which men of initiative and courage are willing to take economic risks.
WITH RESPECT TO THE UPCOMING MAY 20TH HONDURAS MILITARY CONFERENCE AT LA FRATERNIDAD:

THE HONDURAN MILITARY AND CIVILIAN LEADERSHIP FELT A CERTAIN OBLIGATION TO GO THROUGH WITH THE MUCH TALKED-ABOUT MEETING AND THEREFORE WILL SEND SENIOR MILITARY OFFICERS TO REPRESENT HONDURAS. HOWEVER, HONDURAS IS ESSENTIALLY PLAYING FOR TIME AND WILL ONLY DISCUSS INITIATIVES WITHIN THE FRAMEWORK OF THEIR SIX POINT PEACE PLAN. THE HONDURANS WILL NOT ADDRESS BILATERAL ISSUES NOR AGREE TO MEASURES WHICH ONLY AFFECT HONDURAS - THEY ARE ADMANT IN THEIR POSITION THAT INITIATIVES MUST HAVE A REGIONAL FOCUS. BG ALVAREZ WILL NOT ATTEND THE FIRST MEETING SINCE IT WILL BE AN INITIAL "LET'S GET ACQUAINTED" SESSION, BUT HOPES THAT THIS WILL BE THE FIRST OF A SERIES OF PARLEYS IN WHICH HE WILL EVENTUALLY PARTICIPATE. REPRESENTING HONDURAS WILL BE COL (BUESO) ROSA, CHIEF OF THE HONDURAN GENERAL STAFF, COL (BALL) CASTILLO, COR OF FUSEP, COL RUBEN (MONTOYA), COR HD NAVY, COL (REGALADO) LARA, HD AIRED FORCES IG, COL (SANchez) VALLADARES, COR 5TH INF BN, AND COL DANilo (Ferreira), COR 11TH INF BN.

SUMMARY:

DETAILS:

1. (U) Political-Military Situation.

   a. (U) After virtually 10 years of military governments in Honduras, elections were held 29 Nov 1981 to elect a civilian government which was installed 27 Jan 1982. The new President of the Republic is Dr Roberto SUAZO Cordova, a medical doctor from the town of La Paz, HO. The Provisional President, General de Division (equivalent to US Maj Gen) Policarpo PAZ Garcia, not only relinquished the Presidency, but also his roles as Chief of the Armed Forces and Commander of the Army. These two posts were assumed by Army Col Gustavo ALVAREZ Martinez. The National Congress was also installed 27 Jan 1982, and the President of the Congress is Efrain BU Giron.

   b. (U) The elections resulted in the moderate Liberal Party (PLH) winning 44 seats in the new 82 seat Congress. The National Party (PNH) won 34 seats, the Innovation and Unity Party (PINU) won 3 seats, and the Christian Democratic Party (PDC) took 1 seat. The margin of victory for the PLH was approximately 150,000 votes over their closest rival, the PNH, a virtual clear mandate from the people to institute their programs unchallenged.

   The previous administration, which was composed of senior military officers and Liberal and National Party politicians, proved to be too weak and divided to adequately deal with
c. (U) The economic situation continued to deteriorate as the "caretaker" government was unable to deal with the problems of increased oil prices, high interest rates and low investment, capital flight, low export volume, and pervasive corruption. In 1980, the Government sought assistance from the International Monetary Fund (IMF), but, for domestic political reasons, was unwilling to adopt the austerity measures the IMF recommended, thus receiving no monetary help from that agency. The worsened situation forced the previous administration to institute the IMF recommendations. The new Government and military leaders have pledged themselves to "cleaning up" the economic situation as their number one priority, and the prevalent corruption. If the new leaders of Honduras are able to solve these problems, or at least start making changes, then the future should be brighter for Honduras.

d. (U) The unsettled conditions in neighboring El Salvador, Guatemala, and Nicaragua have begun to affect the isolation which Honduras previously enjoyed. There has been an increase in kidnappings, bombings, and robberies, but no US personnel have been targeted since the attack on 5 US military members in Sep 1981.

g. (U) The Honduran militant left has limited its activities to assisting Salvadoran guerrillas achieve their logistical needs through the smuggling of weaponry and other supplies through Honduras. There is no hard evidence that these leftists have any significant popular support locally. Nevertheless, the instability and turbulence in Central America is feeding local pressure for changes in Honduras, which the new civilian Government has promised to try to rectify during their administration.

SUBJ: CUBAN HATRED OF HONDURAN GENERAL ALVAREZ—POTENTIAL/ACTUAL COUNTERMEASURES (U)

SUMMARY: (U) INTENSITY OF CUBAN HATRED TOWARD HONDURAN GENERAL ALVAREZ.

FORMATION OF A UNITED LEFT IN HONDURAS IS AN EFFORT TO DIVERT ALLEGED HONDURAN SUPPORT TO CONTRAS. WHILE ALVAREZ UNDOUBTEDLY IS TAKING PRECAUTIONS, THE INTENSITY OF CUBAN HATRED SHOULD CAUSE HIM TO REVIEW THESE PRECAUTIONS.

RECENT DISCUSSIONS WITH VARIOUS CUBAN COMMUNIST PARTY FUNCTIONARIES LEFT THE STRONG PERSONAL CONVICTION THAT THE CUBANS HATE GENERAL ALVAREZ, VIEW HIM AS A SORT OF "DEVIL." LACK OF THE U.S. IN THEIR EYES, THE CONTRAS WITH HONDURAN ARMY SUPPORT ARE PRESSURING CUBA'S ALLY, NICARAGUA THE MPAIRMENT OF THIS IS GENERAL ALVAREZ WHO ACTS WITH U.S. SUPPORT, IT WOULD BE ENTIRELY POSSIBLE FOR THE CUBANS TO TRY TO KILL ALVAREZ. HIS SECURITY SHOULD BE VERY TIGHT.

ATTACK HONDURAS, THE UNIFICATION OF THE LEFT IN HONDURAS WITH CUBAN SUPPORT, ENCOURAGEMENT AND GUIDANCE TO PRESSURE THE HONDURAN GOVERNMENT, AND POSSIBLY DISTRACT THEM FROM THEIR ALLEGED SUPPORT OF THE CONTRAS IS THE MOST PROBABLE CUBAN MOVE.

CITED—AS PROOF OF THIS TACTIC—DESCRIBES THE FORMATION IN HONDURAS OF THE UNIFIED REVOLUTIONARY COORDINATOR WHICH COMPRISSE FOUR PRINCIPAL HONDURAN LEFTIST GROUPINGS.
If corruption and collusion among a few HD Air Force officers has been the basis of MONDO's high prices and poor product, a move to terminate the MONDO contract may be a sign from HD CINC RE WALTER LOPEZ that corruption at the expense of the HD Air Force will no longer be sanctioned or tolerated.

Former Air Force Commander General Walter ((Lopez)) Reyes replaced General Gustavo ((Alvarez)) Martinez as Commander in Chief of the Armed Forces as a result of a "barracks" coup on 31 March 1984. Lopez, along with several other officers, and with the support of civilian leaders, forced Alvarez to resign and escorted him to exile in Costa Rica. General Lopez was then selected by Congress as the successor to Alvarez from a field of three candidates which included: Col. Regalado ((Hernández)) & ((Martínez)) Avila.
